

REPUBLIC OF VANUATU

BILL FOR THE ADOPTION ACT NO. OF 2026

Explanatory Note

This Bill provides for the adoption of children in Vanuatu and for related purposes.

Since independence, Parliament has not enacted domestic legislation to provide for the process of adoption in Vanuatu. To date, the Supreme Court has relied on the UK Adoption Act of 1958 and the French Civil Code in making adoption orders.

This Bill sets out the process and requirements for formal adoption in Vanuatu. The Bill regulates formal adoption and does not apply to custom adoption.

The key features of this Bill are to:

- (a) establish the Vanuatu Adoption Council and the National Child Social Welfare Manager to provide adoption services, including making and facilitating adoption arrangements for children in Vanuatu;
- (b) provide for the registration and regulation of adoption agencies and temporary carers to ensure that adoption services are provided to a high standard;
- (c) set out the adoption process and the conditions for making adoption orders, including orders made without consent;
- (d) allow adoption orders to be made in favour of a single person, married persons and unmarried persons;
- (e) provide a more consistent approach to accessing information held by the Ministry, the Court and the Registrar-General;
- (f) provide for inter-country adoptions;
- (g) prescribe the requirements for bringing a child into Vanuatu for adoption, to ensure that Vanuatu residents and citizens follow the appropriate procedures;

- (h) restrict the arrangement and advertising of adoptions through traditional and electronic media, and prohibit certain payments in connection with adoption;
- (i) enable the Council to establish an Adopted Children Register and suggest matches between children available for adoption and approved adoptive parents;
- (j) provide for the legal representation of children by lawyers in the Office of the Attorney General, the Public Solicitor's Office and the Vanuatu Women's Centre;
- (k) allow birth parents to state their preferences regarding the persons who may adopt their child, such as persons with a similar religious background, and require applicants to prepare an adoption plan explaining how the child will learn about and retain his or her Melanesian cultural roots.

The Bill also requires the following internationally recognised standards to be considered when decisions are made concerning the adoption of a child:

- (a) the "best interests of the child" must always be considered in the adoption process so as to reduce any risk of harm to the child; and
- (b) the child must be given a right to be heard where appropriate; and
- (c) cultural factors are important factors to consider in the adoption process.

This Bill is in line with and gives effect to the Convention on the Rights of the Child that was ratified by Parliament in 1992.

30 Exception to the requirement of consent to an adoption

- (4) Upon application, the Supreme Court may dispense with the consent of a birth mother even before the child is 6 weeks old for just cause.

31 Consent of the Child

- (b) the child has consented to the adoption and demonstrated that consent by giving oral evidence to the Supreme Court; and
- (c) in the case where the child has not consented to the adoption - the Supreme Court is satisfied that there are special reasons related to the welfare and best interests of the child to justify the order.

32 Counselling and informed Consent
