

REPUBLIC OF VANUATU

BILL FOR THE
DISASTER RECOVERY AND RESILIENCE
ACT NO. OF 2024

Explanatory Note

This Bill provides for the recovery of communities affected by a disaster and improves the resilience of communities to the impacts of future disasters in Vanuatu.

The Bill complements the Disaster Risk Management Act No. 23 of 2019 (“the DRM Act”) as the DRM Act only provides for the response to a disaster, and there is a gap in providing disaster recovery and resilience, which this Bill addresses.

Vanuatu is frequently exposed to a range of natural disasters. Recent estimates undertaken show that expected losses due to natural disasters in Vanuatu far exceed those in almost all other countries in the world. The impact of natural disasters is equivalent to an annual loss of 6.6% of Vanuatu’s GDP, and has a large range of social implications. With a changing climate, changing socio-economic needs and changing settlement patterns, the impact of increasingly frequent and severe natural disaster on the country’s people and economy is growing. The anticipated recurrence of disasters requires Vanuatu to develop effective recovery strategies that are both consistent with development needs and objectives, and that support people to rebuild their lives and livelihoods.

The Government considers natural hazards and disaster risks to be of serious national concern, given the impacts they have on the livelihoods of people in Vanuatu, on national development progress and on the country’s environment more generally. Recent disasters, such as Category Five Tropical Cyclones Pam (2015) and Harold (2020), highlight the importance of effective disaster recovery strategies and activities.

Key features of this Bill include:

- The establishment of the National Recovery Committee.
- Provision for the Director, Recovery Managers, Government agencies and emergency services officers to assist in the enforcement and ensuring the compliance with this Bill.
- Provision for the Disaster Recovery Process to be made after a State of Emergency declared under the DRM Act ceases. This is to provide for recovery activities to be carried out in affected communities.
- Provisions for international disaster recovery assistance from international actors.
- The establishment of an Emergency Recovery Fund.
